OSI Food Solutions UK Wins Environmental Five Star Award from British Safety Council

Company maintains its BSC Five Star rating

Scunthorpe, England, UK, May 8, 2014 – Based upon its reassessment in March 2014, OSI Food Solutions UK was delighted to once again be awarded the full Five Star Environmental Award rating from the British Safety Council (BSC). An even greater achievement for the company was the fact that the score achieved was 99.6%, the highest score awarded against the BSC standard to date. The award itself is expected to be delivered to the facility in July.

“This is a detailed specification that requires an intensive three day audit of the site,” said OSI’s Kelly Grimwood, Sustainability Manager Europe. “This includes a plant tour, employee interviews and a thorough review of OSI’s management system and legal compliance. To achieve such a high score is extremely rewarding for everyone involved and a clear demonstration from OSI that we are committed to continually improving our systems.”

The Five Star Environmental Audit aims to underpin the commercial sustainability of a business. It achieves this by analyzing performance and recommending improvements in the following five key areas:

1. Environmental Compliance
2. Environmental Management
3. Environmental Management Systems
4. Resource Efficiency
5. Sustainability and Environmental Performance and Reporting

Any site awarded the full five star rating is given the opportunity to then apply for the prestigious “Globe of Honour” award, with applications opening in August 2014. The OSI Food Solutions UK site looks forward to working on this application and hopes to be successful.
